Commencement Speaker

Andrea Aviles Guzman

There was a time when Andrea Aviles Guzman thought college wasn't for her. Now she's transferring to the University of California, Santa Cruz, after winning a prestigious scholarship to help pay her way.

Aviles, 25, is graduating from De Anza with an associate degree for transfer in Sociology and plans to get her bachelor's degree in the same field. She wants to be a social worker or work in a field in which she can help children and families.

"There's so much work that needs to be done. I can't fix everything, but I can help," she said.

When she first tried college after high school, Aviles struggled. "It was intimidating. I never talked to my teachers."

Aviles left for a while before trying again – just as the COVID pandemic hit. She left again after feeling "online classes were not for me."

But her older brother, who attended De Anza a few years earlier, convinced Aviles to try one more time. "There's help there," he told her. "You just have to ask for it."

This time, things clicked. Aviles found support through the De Anza College Promise and the EOPS Scholars program, which is funded through the Foothill-De Anza Foundation by generous donors including Kathleen and Mark Santora and Lori and Dean Johnson.

She's also been a student leader with HEFAS, which provides peer support for undocumented students, while working part-time in a restaurant and studying for her degree.

Aviles' hard work was recognized when she was awarded the Karl S. Pister Leadership Opportunity Award, which provides $20,000 to a De Anza student who is transferring to the University of California, Santa Cruz.

"Andrea is one of those students that I just know will be a lifelong leader, wherever life takes her," said Sociology instructor Steve Nava.

Aviles grew up in Campbell after her family moved from Mexico when she was 5. In high school, she said, no one told her about resources or programs for undocumented students.

Through HEFAS, Aviles said, she's tried to help other students and their parents learn what's available. "I feel like it's my turn to not let that person fall through the cracks," she said.

President's Awards

The $3,500 President's Awards are presented annually to graduating students who have overcome adversity and shown perseverance in seeking an education at De Anza.

Megan Cheng

After losing her mother to cancer, Megan Cheng wants to help other families cope with the many hurdles and difficult decisions that come with major illness.

Cheng, a President's Award recipient, is graduating from De Anza with an associate degree for transfer in Psychology and will study psychology and social welfare at the University of California, Berkeley, this fall.

Cheng was in high school when her mother died after declining conventional treatment for cancer, due to personal beliefs. Now 20, Cheng said her struggle to understand her mother's perspective left her wanting to know more about how mental health and support services can intersect with health care decisions and treatment.

"I want to help patients and families navigate the health care system, and help them deal with illnesses and everything that brings," said Cheng.

After graduating from Monta Vista High School in Cupertino, Cheng came to De Anza for an affordable college education. She helped pay her way by working night shifts as a behavioral health technician at a San Jose mental health facility.

On campus, she joined Active Minds, a student club that sponsors activities like hikes and arts-and-crafts, where participants can practice self-care and speak freely about mental health issues. She was club president this year.

"Megan exemplifies the epitome of academic excellence, leadership and unwavering commitment to mental health and social welfare," said Laura Chin, a political science instructor and club adviser.

Last year, with another club member, Cheng conducted a research project on ways that students' mental health can be affected by taking care of plants. The project won an award at a Foothill College research symposium.

This year, Cheng was active in De Anza Student Government as vice chair of Student Rights and Equity. She was also a DASG representative to the college Equity Action Council.

Kevin Valencia

Kevin Valencia wasn't planning to attend community college, but coming to De Anza turned out to be the right decision.

"I'm much better off after being at De Anza," said Valencia, who is graduating with three associate degrees – in Computer Science, Liberal Arts and Mathematics – and transferring to study computer science at UCLA.

Valencia, a President's Award recipient, always thought he'd go to a university right after graduating from Homestead High School in Cupertino – and he felt devastated when all his applications were denied. But after doing some research, Valencia came to De Anza and found a welcoming community of students, instructors and mentors.

He felt "kind of lost in the beginning," until he joined the FirstYear Experience program and, later, the Men of Color Community, where Valencia was thrilled to connect with other Latinx students.

Valencia also worked as a student ambassador in the Office of Outreach, sharing information about the college with new students and their families.

Applying a longtime interest in technology, Valencia joined the college CompTechS program, restoring donated computers for students who can't afford new ones. He also landed an internship at Stanford University, after learning of the opportunity through the De Anza Developers' Guild club.

During the internship, Valencia helped a professor doing research on sustainable building designs. The experience spurred his interest in applying computer science to solving environmental problems, which he hopes to pursue at UCLA and in graduate school.

"Kevin is not only brilliant, kind and engaged; he's deeply curious and creative," said English instructor Jill Quigley, who taught Valencia through the FYE program.

Valencia said De Anza gave him opportunities to grow and find his own path. "I don't think I'd be the person I am today if I'd gone somewhere else."

DeHart Scholarship

The $2,000 A. Robert DeHart and Rena Frabony DeHart Memorial Scholarship honors De Anza's founding president and is awarded for service to the college community.

Adriana Aguilar

Adriana Aguilar set her sights on becoming a nurse when she was a teenager, after watching nurses take care of her mother when she was ill.

"They were like superheroes," said Aguilar, 31, who is graduating this month with an associate degree in Registered Nursing and transferring to the nursing bachelor's degree program at California State University, East Bay.

This year's DeHart scholarship winner says she was inspired by the skill and kindness of the nurses she met while her mother endured health problems for several years. Aguilar was also impressed by their compassion for her family.

"It's more than just skills that are important," she realized. "Nurses care for the patient and their family members, too. It's a therapeutic connection that really makes a big difference."

After graduating from Mountain View High School, Aguilar enrolled at San José State but left school to help her family during her mother's illness. Aguilar went to work as a certified nurse assistant and later a medical assistant.

When COVID arrived, Aguilar was assigned to a respiratory clinic and later volunteered in a vaccination clinic. The work was demanding, but she wasn't deterred.

Aguilar was accepted into De Anza's Nursing program in 2022. "She excelled from the beginning," recalled Rana Marinas, the program's interim director and Aguilar's instructor in two classes. "This is a bright student!"

Though she stopped working last year to focus on her classes, Aguilar is back on the job as a medical assistant. She'll take the nurse's license exam this summer. And her mother's health has greatly improved.

When Aguilar talks about the less glamorous side of her training, like inserting intravenous lines and catheters, some people seem puzzled, she said. "They'll say, 'What? You want to do that?' And I'm like: 'Yeah! I do!'"

Student Leadership Awards

The Student Leadership Awards are a project of the De Anza Student Government (DASG) and the Vasconcellos Institute for Democracy in Action (VIDA). These students have demonstrated extraordinary leadership in the last year.

About De Anza College

De Anza offers a broad range of academic and career programs, cultural activities, sports and social events to nearly 16,000 students each quarter. Students can choose from 80 associate degrees, 135 certificates and approximately 1,800 courses.

While students have many options, everyone at De Anza is invited to join one of the six Villages established under the college's Guided Pathways program. These are supportive communities of students, faculty and staff, organized around related majors. The Villages offer resources and activities keyed to their students' academic interests and goals. Each Village has its own webpage, an online instructional site, and a designated physical space on campus where students can meet peers, instructors and counselors – to study or just hang out

The six Villages are:

- Artistic Expression
- Business and Finance
- Health and Life Sciences
- Language and Communication
- Physical Sciences and Technology
- Social Sciences and Humanities

SOCIAL SCIENCES AND HUMANITIES

Students attending De Anza enjoy the whole college experience. They can join one of 60 student clubs or start a new one; walk through time at the California History Center; visit the stars at the Planetarium; explore the diversified ecosystems of the Cheeseman Environmental Study Area; and join or root for a sports team – there are 17 to choose from.

An education at De Anza isn't just about books and tests. Students also discover a diversity of people representing cultures from around the world and learn how to become fully engaged, politically aware citizens. Many students find opportunities for community service and engaged learning through the college's Vasconcellos Institute for Democracy in Action.

Classes and activities are held in state-of-the-art facilities, many funded through generous support of local voters. The college is committed to environmental sustainability both in building design and operations.

De Anza consistently ranks at or near the top among California community colleges in the number of transfers to the University of California and California State University campuses.

In addition, more than 30,000 friends and neighbors participate in De Anza's Community Education programs each year, including the Child Development Center, De Anza College Academy for students in middle and high school, De Anza Planetarium and Euphrat Museum of Art.

De Anza College Mission Statement

De Anza College provides an academically rich, multicultural learning environment that challenges students of every background to develop their intellect, character and abilities; to realize their goals; and to be socially responsible leaders in their communities, the nation and the world

De Anza College fulfills its mission by engaging students in creative work that demonstrates the knowledge, skills and attitudes contained within the college's Institutional Core Competencies:

- Communication and expression
- Information literacy
- Physical/mental wellness and personal responsibility
- Civic capacity for global, cultural, social and environmental justice
- Critical thinking
